

TRADDO PLANS BIG POLICE MOVE

Report That a Switch-Around of Officials Was to Take Place
Draws a Crowd of Politicians to Headquarters.

McAVOY HAS BEEN TURNING THE TRANSFERS.

Has Been Attending to Friends in the Manipulation—Some of Those Who Are to Move from Precinct to Precinct.

Rumors of wholesale transfers to be made in the Police Department before Commissioner McAdoo starts on his vacation next week have had the effect of deluging Headquarters with streams of politicians who seek to have favorable advances; this despite the fact that when the Commissioner took office he announced that no transfers or promotions would be prompted by political considerations. In fact, he warned the district leaders and party workers to keep away from him, insinuating that interference would have an effect the reverse of beneficial.

While Commissioner McAdoo has adhered to this rule and politicians have come to recognize that it is useless to appeal to him unless there is ground for requesting a favor other than mere desire to advance a policeman, there has grown up a system of transfers by favor through First Deputy Commissioner McAvoy that is causing a great deal of talk in the department.

How McAvoy Works It.
The First Deputy, it appears, is the boss of the transfer department, and in the past three months hundreds of policemen have been shifted in such a way as to give rise to the report that McAdoo's old friends are being taken care of.

News of transfers is not given out in specific bulletins these days. Reporters learn of them through scrutinizing the minutes of the meetings of Commissioner McAdoo and his deputies. From these minutes it is gathered that the First Deputy Commissioner makes recommendations for transfers that are adopted without investigation.

It was at the recommendation of the First Deputy Commissioner that Sgt. Shibles and Sgt. Boettler were transferred from the Tenderloin station recently. Sgt. Shibles was sent to the Charles street station and Sgt. Boettler to Union street. They were replaced by Sgt. Daniel Wall and Sgt. Matthew Robinson.

The reason given for transferring Sgt. Shibles and Boettler emanated from First Deputy Commissioner McAvoy. In effect he sent them to other stations because they failed to remain at their homes on their day off. There is nothing in the department rules to compel a policeman to remain home on his day off, but because Shibles and Boettler took their families to the seashore and the other Sergeants were engaged in court or otherwise they were punished for not being home when Inspector Walsh sent for them.

Why Wall Was Transferred.
Sgt. Wall was transferred from the Tenderloin station by Commissioner Greene because of a famous telephone conversation one night between former Police Captain James Churchill and somebody in the Tenderloin station-house. Churchill had a saloon in Broadway near Fort street and it was alleged that Churchill, in the hearing of several persons called up Police Headquarters when it became known that the station-house in Thirtieth street. As a result of this conversation no record of the raid ever appeared on the books and no one was ever arraigned in court. Sgt. Wall was on duty in the station-house when Churchill called up.

In view of what has been happening it was not entirely surprising that politicians should flock to Police Headquarters when it became known that the Commissioner had decided to make extensive changes. There were so many of them around that Commissioner McAdoo became aware of their activity and tore up the list he had outlined.

Some of Those on the Slate.
Rumors of impending changes of an important nature are rife in police circles, notwithstanding that the Commissioner is said to have decided to postpone his shake-up. It is considered as good as settled that Capt. Flood is to be removed from Eldridge street to West Forty-seventh street, in place of

A FEMALE GONDOLIER.

MILIE NUOLA

New York is used to novelties. An idea must be clever in the extreme to cause comment in this cosmopolitan city. But that an original conception is appreciated by New Yorkers is shown by the fact that the metropolitan is talking about Milie Nuola, who appears as a female gondolier at Duss's "Venice," Madison Square Garden.

During the intermissions Milie Nuola, wearing a Venetian costume, sings, accompanied by the guitars and mandolins of the Italian gondoliers.

She sings with considerable power and skill. The world's attention has been shown meanwhile. The world's views continue to attract attention at the Garden. They are all taken from The New York World's Exposition Art Portfolio, with which New Yorkers are so familiar. The World's Exposition Art Portfolio is increasing in popularity every day.

Capt. Shibles, who wants a better station to command in the new Tenderloin. He will probably go to Westchester. The West Forty-seventh street precinct is the most important in the city and the hardest to handle.

Capt. Flood, of the Oak street station, who will be transferred to the West Thirtieth street station, changing places with Capt. Cottrell, although Commissioner McAdoo insists that he is well satisfied with Cottrell's work.

Capt. Conner, who was sent out to Long Island by the reform administration, because he had been close to Devery and the old police regime, is slated for an important precinct in Manhattan.

Capt. Dillon, now of the Grand Central station, who successfully fought charges preferred against him by the District Attorney's sleuths, is also scheduled for a far precinct, as is Capt. O'Connor, now in Delancey street.

The recent death of Capt. Schultz and Capt. Short are of two vacancies, but Commissioner McAdoo says that he is not going to fill them at present. Instead he will probably detail Capt. Langan from the Detective Bureau and Capt. Devery from night duty at Headquarters to the command of precincts, as both are anxious for active duty.

Commissioner McAdoo will start on his vacation next Monday or Tuesday. He will be away from Mulberry street three weeks.

Naval Men the Mourners.
FIUME, Hungary, July 29.—A delegation of officers of the United States battleship Kearsarge attended the funeral to-day at Trieste of Lieut. James Wilkinson Clement, who died at that place of typhoid fever. The body will be taken home. The dispatch boat Mayflower will remain at Trieste until other men who are sick there have recovered.

GIRL ON A VISIT IS MISSING.

Went to Paterson and Disappeared After Asking Her Way.

PATERSON, N. J., July 29.—The police of this city are looking for Josie Woelaka, an eighteen-year-old girl who lives in Middletown, Conn. An aunt of the girl, Mrs. Van Dine, received a letter from her stating that she would be in Paterson on Wednesday night to visit her. She arrived here on that date and stopped at a laundry and inquired the way to Josie's home, at No. 74 Madison street. "I'm being directed," she left the place and that was the last seen of her.

The girl's aunt called at the police station and reported the case, and officers were sent out to look for her. The girl is of medium height and stout build and wore a white shirt waist, black skirt and black hat trimmed with red roses. She carried a hat box.
